Malabar Super Spice CO. Ltd. Presented “Food Safety Excellence Award”

Burlington, ON / Guelph, ON – February 25th, 2016

GUELPH, Ontario - NSF-GFTC, part of NSF International’s Global Food Division, announced the winners of its 2016 Canada Food Safety Recognition Awards. The awards were presented at the Canadian Food Safety Forum, which was hosted by NSF-GFTC at the Pearson Convention Centre in Brampton, Ontario.

NSF-GFTC established the awards program to recognize Canadian food and beverage companies, and individuals, who are helping to advance food safety and quality. The submissions were diverse, country-wide and represented various areas within the food industry. To select the winners in each of the three categories, NSF GFTC assembled a diverse group of food and beverage industry leaders.

Paul Medeiros, Managing Director, Consulting and Technical Services at NSF-GFTC - “There are many food safety success stories in Canada and our awards are a mechanism to share and celebrate those successes. The safety and quality of the global food supply is important. This is why NSF International recognizes these leaders and companies who are in the forefront of innovation and continuous improvement, excellent food safety performance, and for embracing a food safety culture,”
